The Chimney's Song.

Over the chimney the night wind sang. And the chanted melody no one knew; And the woman stopped as the babe she tour'd. And thought of the one she had long since lost-And said as her tear-drops back she forced, "I hate the wind in the chimney."

Over the chimney the night wind sang, And chanted a melody no one knew; And the children said, as they closer drew, "The some witch that is cleaving the black night Tis a fairy that just then blew, through; And we fear the wind in the chimney."

Over the chimney the night wind sang, And chanted a melody no one knew: And the man as he sat on his hearth below, Said to himself "it will surely snow; And fuel is dear and wages are low, And I'll stop that leak in the chimney."

Over the chimney the night wind sang. And chanted a melody no one knew; But the poet listened and smiled, for he Was man and woman and child all three; And he said " it is God's own harmony, The wind that sings in the chimney." Bret Harte

Where is Yesterday?

" Mother some things I want to know, Which puzzle and confuse me so, To-day is present as you say ; But tell me, Where is Yesterday? "I did not see it as it went ; I only knew how it was spent-In play and pleasure, though in rain : Then why won't it come back again? "To-day the sun shines bright and clear : But then Tomorrow's drawing near. To-day Oh do not go away ! And vanish like dear Yesterday. " 'Tis when the sun and all the light Has gone, and darkness brings the night, And change your name to Yesterday "And will all Time be just the same?

It seems to me, you steal away, To-day the only name remain ! And shall I always have to say "I wonder when we go to heaven, If there a record will be given

Of all our thoughts and all our ways Writ on the face of Yesterdays ? "If so I pray God grant to me That mine a noble life may be ; For there I'll greet with joyous gaze The dear lost face of -Yesterdays."

The Chicago Tribune, having been asked by a subscriber whether or not it is considered proper for an engaged young woman to dance with gentlemen at entertainments at which her affian-ced does not attend, says: "It depends upon where you live. In Boston or New York it might do, but in Carson City or Leadville an engaged irl never dances with any gentlemen except her fisneed. Very few men are willing to die for the sake of a girl's enjoyment. The Chinese ambassadress in London, who enjoys the "courtesy title" of Marchioness, pears to be all the rage in Court and fashionble circles, and " does the honours" in a most graceful and intelligent manner. There are new Chinese slippers, Chinese robes, &c., and the hair is dressed a la " Marchoness."

A curious incident occurred in Paris in the urse of the recent proceedings against the religious orders. As the commissary of police was about to put the seals on the doors of the chapel of the Dominicans, the superior, Father Jonin, remarked to him that there were already some seals on the doors. "I beg of you," he said, Mensieur le Commissaire, not to destroy these seals. They are historical, being those which were affixed by the men of the Commune in 1871. We have carefully proserved them as a souvenir those trying times. I should be obliged if you would not destroy them and place yours by the side of them. ' M. Dulae acceded to the desire, and the two seals are now side by side.

An important discovery has just been made in the archives of the French Ministry of Foreign Affairs. It is the memoirs of Lucien Bonaparte, all in his own handwriting.
